Experience the freedom of
THE WORLD CALENDAR!
The first two months of 2012 are the same in both calendars!

Memorize TWC to have anytime mental access to these two months.* >> Before 2012. During the first two months of 2012. After they become past.

Before 2012: This demonstrates the same immediate ability to use TWC after the future policical decision finalizes the date to change but before that implementation date arrives.

During Jan-Feb 2012: Need a date or day of week? Resist searching for a physical calendar copy. Find it in your head instead.

March 2012 and beyond: you can always refer to any date within JAN-FEB 2012 without needing to find and refer to a calendar.

Why "PRIORITY"?

The Gregorian calendar simply does not afford a better opportunity until 2017. TWC-like months fall mostly one at a time.

Compare this exercise to the ease of returning to a location after arriving there first as a driver rather than a passenger.
Actually using TWC from memory and then being denied it makes an unforgettable impression!

- * "As soon as the world decides and predetermines a 1 January conversion year for The World Calendar, visualization of and planning towards any date thereafter becomes immediately and consistently easier, with or without a physical version of calendar, eyes open or closed.
After TWC becomes the world's calendar and the means to simpler documentation and memories are in place, less complicated access to past simultaneously accumulates day by day." -- Source
